Educational Background

Ph.D. in Medical Anthropology, University of California, Berkeley and San Francisco, 1992

M.A. in Demography, University of California, Berkeley, 1988

M.A. in Anthropology, University of California, Berkeley, 1986

B.A. cum laude in Biological Bases of Behavior, University of Pennsylvania, 1984

Current Position

Professor of Anthropology, Indiana University Department of Anthropology [2008-present]
Director, Human Biology Program [2010 – present]; Director, Human Biology Laboratory [2008-present]; Core Faculty, Dhar India Studies Program; Affiliate Faculty, Integrated Program in the Environment

Previous Appointments

Professor of Anthropology [2005-2007]; Associate Professor [1999-2005]; Assistant Department Head, [2002 – 2004]; Anthropology Program Coordinator [2001-2005]; Assistant Professor [1997-1999]; Coordinator, Human Science Program [2006-2007]

Assistant Professor, Department of Anthropology, Binghamton University -SUNY
1995-1998

Visiting Assistant Professor, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, James Madison University, 1994 -1995

Visiting Lecturer, Department of Anthropology, University of Auckland, New Zealand
July - August 1994

Visiting Assistant Professor, Department of Anthropology and South Asia Studies Program
University of Iowa, 1993 - 1994

Awards, Grants and Scholarships

Fellow, Institute for Advanced Study, University of Oslo, Norway, Summer 2014

Wenner-Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research Post-PhD Research Award, 2010-11

Indiana University New Frontiers Travel Grant, Summer 2009

Indiana University Overseas Research Grant, Summer 2009

James Madison University Distinguished Madison Scholar Award, 2007

Faculty Summer Teaching Grant. Summer 2005

Office of International Programs, International Travel/Research Grant, James Madison University,
Summer 2004

Faculty Educational Leave, James Madison University, Fall 2003

Faculty Summer Research Grant, James Madison University, Summer 1998

Wenner-Gren Richard Carley Hunt Memorial Postdoctoral Fellowship, 1995-1996

University of Iowa Graduate College Summer Research Opportunities Program Grant
Summer 1993

National Science Foundation Dissertation Improvement Grant, June 1990 - January 1992

The Population Council Dissertation Research Grant, January 1990 - December 1990

Graduate Student Instructor Course Improvement Grant, Fall 1991

Lowie Grant, Department of Anthropology, University of California, Berkeley, Summer 1989

Genevieve McEnerney and Stanley Tasheira Fellowship, University of California, Berkeley
Academic year 1985 - 1986

Presentations

Cow milk in the human life history: Insights from research in India and the United States. Invited Speaker, Department of Anthropology, University of Auckland, New Zealand, September 2014

Cow milk in the human life history: Evolutionary considerations. Invited Speaker for The Milking Revolution in Temperate Neolithic Europe & Department of Anthropology, University of Bristol, U.K. June 2014

Discussant "Mothers, Milks, and Meaning: Innovations in Studying Lactation, Infant Feeding, and Developmental Ecology in Humans and Nonhuman Primates" American Anthropological Association Meetings, Chicago, IL, November 2013.

Cow Milk Consumption: A Life History Approach. Invited Speaker Max Rubner-Institut Conference on Health Effects of Milk and Dairy Products Karlsruhe Germany, October 8, 2013

Life History Consequences of Bovine Milk Consumption: Evidence from the United States and India International Anthropological and Ethnological Sciences/International Commission on the Anthropology of Food meetings, Manchester, United Kingdom, August 6, 2013.

Growing Children Around the World: Cow's milk and ideals of growth. Southern Anthropological Society Annual Meeting Keynote Lecture. March 15, 2013.

Cow's Milk in the Human Life History. Department of Anthropology Distinguished Lecture, University of Kentucky. February 15, 2013.

Milk consumption, child growth, and life history consequences: Evidence from the U.S. and India. Featured invited presentation at LeCHE: Lactase Persistence in the Early Cultural History of Europe Vrije Universiteit, Amsterdam The Netherlands, 28th - 29th June 2012.

Childhood milk consumption and age at menarche in NHANES: A role for IGF-I? American Association of Physical Anthropology & Human Biology Association Annual Meetings, Portland, OR, April 2012.

LG Mattern, AS Wiley Infant and young child feeding practices in the United States and their relationship to anthropometric measures: NHANES data from 1999–2008. Human Biology Association Annual Meetings, Portland,OR, April 2012

Growing children around the world: The globalization of milk consumption, biological variation, and child growth. Invited presentation at University of Illinois, Chicago, Liberal Arts & Sciences Global Learning Community. March 2012.

Early bovine milk consumption, IGF-I, and early child growth: a cohort study from Pune, India 1st International Conference on Nutrition and Growth (N&G). Paris, France March 1-3, 2012

“Growing children around the world:” The globalization of milk and its relationship to child growth Invited Presentation, East Asian Cultural Center, Indiana University Bloomington, February 2012.

Growing children around the world: the globalization of cow's milk consumption and child growth. Invited Presentation at the School of Oriental and African Studies Food Studies Centre Seminar Series. London, October 2011.

Milk and child growth: research in India and the United States. Invited presentation at the Leverhulme Centre for Integrative Research on Agriculture and Health (LCIRAH), London Centre for International Development, University of London, London, UK September 2011.

Consumption of cow's milk and human biology: a life history approach. Plenary Session, "Human Biology Eats: Contemporary Research and Future Directions" (Co-organizer) Human Biology Association Annual Meetings, Minneapolis, MN, April 2011.

The cultural status of milk in India and the United States. Invited presentation at Hanover College, March 2011.

Growing children around the world: the globalization of cow's milk consumption and child growth. Invited presentation at University of Louisville, February 2011.

Milk and its many transformations: A historical perspective. American Anthropological Association Meetings, New Orleans, LA, November 2010.

On the cultural status of milk as a food for children in India and the U.S.: A look at milk promotions. Invited presentation for the Indiana University School of Journalism, November 2010.

A craving for dirt. Earth Beat, Radio Netherlands Worldwide. Interview aired July 30, 2010. <http://www.rnw.nl/english/radioshow/dirt-show>

Milk consumption and child growth: A review of the evidence. Invited presentation at Purdue University, Interdepartmental Nutrition Program. April 2010.

Meanings of cow and water buffalo milk as foods for children in Pune, India. Invited presentation for the India Studies Program, Indiana University, Bloomington. April 2010.

Milk and dairy product intake have no impact on birth outcome in a rural and urban cohort from Pune, India. Poster presented at the 35th annual Human Biology Association meetings, Albuquerque, NM, April 2010. (Lubree, HG, Wiley, AS, Joshi SM, Ramdas LV, Ganpule AA, Thuse NV, Despande VU, Yajnik, CS).

Growing children around the world: the globalization of cow's milk consumption and child growth. Invited presentation at University of Colorado, Boulder, February 2010.

Discussant "Cravings and Aversions: Biocultural Perspectives" American Anthropological Association Meetings, Philadelphia, PA, December 2009

Growing children around the world: the globalization of cow's milk consumption and child growth. Invited presentation at University of Arizona, November 2009

The globalization of milk: nations and bodies transformed through milk. Invited paper at Tasting Histories Conference, University of California, Davis. February 2009.

Cow's milk for "growth" across the lifecycle. American Anthropological Association meetings, San Francisco, California, November 2008

Drink your milk! The globalization of an authoritative food voice. Association for the Study of Food and Society Annual Meeting, New Orleans, LA June 2008

Cow's milk consumption and child growth. Invited presentation at University of Guelph, Ontario, Canada. March 2008

From "white poison" to "does a body good:" Biocultural perspectives on cow's milk consumption and child growth. Madison Scholar Distinguished Lecture, James Madison University, October 2007.

From mother's milk to cow's milk: young children's consumption of cow's milk, growth, and identity in the United States. Association for the Study of Food and Society Annual Meeting, Victoria, BC, May 2007

Doing what comes naturally? Studying diet and reproductive ecology in human biology. Invited Session: From the margins toward the center: Women and Gender in Human Biology. American Anthropological Association meetings, San Jose, California, November 2006

Biocultural perspectives on cow's milk consumption and human biology. Touro University College of Osteopathic Medicine. October 2006

Discussant: Biocultural Evolution of Cuisine. Invited Session (BAS and SAFN) American Anthropological Association meetings, Washington DC, December 2005

"Interesting but not significant:" food and nutrition policy implications of population variation in lactase persistence and milk consumption Executive Session, American Anthropological Association meetings, Washington DC, December 2005

White poison or does a body good? Culture, Science, and the relationship between milk and child growth" Department of Anthropology, University of Virginia, October 2005

Reproductive ecology in the high-altitude Himalaya (Ladakh) Eastern Mennonite University, Suter Science Center Seminar Series, January 2005

Milk consumption and national and global food policy: Does biological variation matter? Invited presentation in the Culture in Global Affairs lecture series, The Elliott School, George Washington University, November 2004.

From "White Poison" to "Does a body good": a critical examination of the relationship between milk and child growth. Paper presented at the Association for the Study of Food and Society meetings in Hyde Park, NY, June 2004

Does milk make children grow? A summary of the evidence. Poster, Human Biology Association meetings, Tampa, FL, April 2004.

Milk and Child Health: Intersections of ideology and science. American Anthropological Association meetings, Chicago, IL November 2003.

Using developmental stages instead of age in the collection of data on early mortality. Human Biology Association meetings, San Antonio, April 2000 (Co-organizer for session: Methodological and statistical approaches for enhancing demographic data collection in Human Biology)

Introduction: Policy relevance of evolutionary perspectives on health. Society for Applied Anthropology/Society for Medical Anthropology meetings, San Francisco, March 2000 (Session Organizer).

Demographic Transition in Ladakh. American Anthropological Association annual meeting, Chicago, November 1999

The adaptive significance of geophagy in pregnancy (co-authored with Solomon H. Katz). Poster presented at the American Association of Physical Anthropology annual meeting, St. Louis, MO April 1997

The triumph of culture or biological constraints as explanations for low natural fertility in Ladakh. American Anthropological Association annual meeting, San Francisco, November 1996

Developmental stages as alternatives to chronological age in the construction of statistics on early mortality. Dept. of Demography, University of California, Berkeley, November 1996

Constraints on reproduction in the high altitude Himalaya. Poster presented at the American Association of Physical Anthropology annual meeting, Oakland, CA March 1995

Demographic contexts and the adaptive role of infant attachment behavior: an hypothesis. (co-authored with Leslie Carlin). Poster presented at the Human Biology Council annual meeting, Oakland, CA, March 1995

From Man in the Andes to Woman in the Himalaya: Mothers, infants, and high altitude adaptation in Ladakh. Department of Anthropology, University of Durham, March 1995

Biological bases and environmental contingencies: biocultural perspectives on mother-infant attachment. (co-authored with Leslie Carlin) American Anthropological Association annual meeting, Atlanta, GA December 1994

Man in the Andes, Woman in the Himalaya: Rethinking high altitude adaptation. Department of Anthropology Thursday Seminar Series, University of Auckland, July 1994

Biocultural perspectives in Demography (co-authored with Alex Brewis). Population Association of America annual meetings, Miami, FL, May 1994

Biological bases and environmental contingencies: critical-evolutionary perspectives on mother-infant attachment. (co-authored with Leslie Carlin) American Association of Physical Anthropology annual meeting, Denver, CO March 1994

Birthweight, infant mortality, and high altitude adaptation in the Himalaya. Dept. of Preventive Medicine and Environmental Health Epidemiology seminar series. College of Medicine, University of Iowa, March 1994

What is the evolutionary history of mother-infant attachment? Dept. of Anthropology colloquium series, University of Iowa, February 1994

The Pre-History of Medicine: Using evolution to understand contemporary problems in medicine and psychology. History of Medicine colloquium series, University of Iowa, January 1994

Constructing the population 'problem' and the role of family planning programs in international health programs. International Health colloquium series, University of Iowa, November 1993

Neonatal characteristics and high altitude adaptation in the Himalaya. Poster. Human Biology Council annual meeting, Toronto, Ontario, April 1993

New light on the demographic history of populations of the Tibetan Plateau. Population Association of America meetings, Cincinnati, OH, April 1993

Understanding human ecological relationships in Ladakh. South Asia Studies Program Colloquium Series. University of Iowa, April 1993

Discussant for panel on Reproductive Vaccinations. Global Immunization and Culture Workshop. University of Iowa, March 4-6, 1993

Human Ecology of Ladakh. South Asia Studies Center, University of California, Berkeley. November 1992.

Birthweight and Maternal-Infant Health in the High Himalaya. American Anthropological Association meetings, Chicago IL, November 1991
